Monthly update

Eric Stevens (e_stevens@cox.net)

ARMS President

First I apologize as we are running on a summer schedule and last month was definitely busy. The summer heat is also taking its toll out at the field. But don't worry, it will cool off and everyone can return to flying. The next meeting we will be setting the dates for the 2010 fun fly, I know it seems away off but the schedule needs to be set. I am looking at the last weekend in February which is the same weekend as this year. I believe that the general thought is to go towards a more flying event instead of lots of contests. That's my take from the CD side at least. I am keeping this relatively short this month. We still have fuel available and I usually have some with me at the field. Hope to see everyone out flying.

Eric

Technical Tips/For Sale

Hobby City 6S lipos

I've got to hand it to them...they keep coming out with really cheap and awesome packs! I converted my Trex 500 to 6S and ordered a couple of the Flight Max 6S 2650 20C packs. I broke them by flying five gentle flights usually taking out around 1300. Since then I've been hitting them pretty hard without any problems! These packs are $40 bucks a piece and well worth it.
